RIFLE TEAM HAS CHANCE TO KEEP
AREA LOVING CUPCompetition In Fifth Corps
Area Match Includes Six
StatesTEAM HAS WON TWICE.
NEEDS ONE VICTORYPresent Match Ends Saturday
Noon; Laughlin Has Highest
Score by 39 Points

The University rifle team has two legs up on the Fifth Corps Area Rifle Match, and if the University wins its present match it will win permanent possession of the trophy, a silver loving cup, now in possession of the local R. O. T. C. unit. Last year a few points prevented the team from winning the trophy permanently.

The Fifth Corps Area includes six states, that of Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, Ohio, and Illinois. The teams annually shoot for this trophy and include those preparatory schools, military schools, high schools, colleges and universities in this area.

Nearly every year Kentucky has been in annual competition with Culver Military Academy and Kemper Military Academy for first place in this match. Kemper, with an unusually high score, won a match recently against several schools that included the University. The score in this match was approximately a hundred points higher than that of the University.

The Fifth Corps Area Match that is being fired this week will not be finished until Saturday noon. However, when The Kernel went to press the following scores had been completed: Jess Laughlin, 770 x 800; V. A. Jackson, 781 x 800; D. C. Sallee, 720 x 800; T. F. Mantz, 713 x 800.

Jess Laughlin had high score in three matches last year, which was higher by two matches than any other member of last year's team. To date in this year's shooting he has shot high man in three matches. With only a partial list of completed scores, Laughlin is 39 points higher than the next highest score.

Only three members of last year's team returned to form the nucleus of the team this year. They are A. Henderson, James Hester, and Jess Laughlin.

Two members of this year's team were chosen last summer at Camp Knox to represent the Fifth Corps R. O. T. C. Team at the National Rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. These are John Shipley and V. A. Jackson, captain.

Freshman Football Players Injured In Automobile Wreck

Tommy Thompson and Kenneth Kistner, members of the 1928 freshman football squad, received minor injuries at noon Wednesday when their college car collided with another car at the intersection of Limestone and Euclid.

Kistner fell on his head when thrown from the car. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and taken to the Good Samaritan hospital where he revived almost immediately and apparently was not seriously injured. Thompson received a deep cut over his left eye. The car was driven by Riley McNeal. Two other boys were in it besides Riley, Kistner, and Thompson. They saw the crash was inevitable, braced themselves, and escaped injury.

SuKy Will Elect
Two Cheer Leaders

SuKy Circle, pep organization of the University, will elect two new cheer leaders at the basketball game next Friday night at which time tryouts will be held. The candidates are requested to turn in their names to some member of the circle as soon as possible in order that they may be given numbers to wear at the game. Members of the circle will vote on the candidates by number immediately after the game to decide on the two cheer leaders. Further details of the tryouts will be given in next week's issue of The Kernel.

Guignol Players Present Fine
Performance of "The Dagger"Large Reception Given the Mystery Play Bids Fair That It Will Prove to Be Best of Season; Entire Cast Proves Good

(By Melvina Humphrey)

As a mystery play, "The Dagger," which opened Monday night at the Guignol theater, offers every specimen of thrill one could expect, and judging from the reception given the play it bids fair to be the most popular of this season's outstanding successes at the University theater.

Charles Martin, author of the play, and Frank O. Fowler, director of the local production, together with an excellent cast, have taken full advantage of the opportunity offered to give the theater-going public an evening of hair-raising entertainment.

With strangely bent figures creeping out of the darkness, pale, almost transparently white, arms writhing in the blackness, fiery daggers hurled through the air and blood-curdling screams and moans coming from nowhere, one is actually afraid to find the lights of the theater suddenly turned on and this gruesome world shut out of view for a few minutes. But then, one is also just as anxious for the lights to be turned off again so that the shadows reappear and the work of solving their mystery goes on.

The plot of the play is based upon a cleverly written play within the play, the first and second acts being scenes from the rehearsals and the third act

Chi Omega Chapter to Construct New Building Next Year

Lambda Alpha chapter of the Chi Omega sorority has filed articles of incorporation which hold title to a new chapter house on Rose street in the heart of the new fraternity row of the University.

The sorority purchased a lot February 13, facing the future arboretum of the University. They plan to start building a chapter house next year. The plans under consideration are for a $40,000 or $50,000 colonial type of building.

These plans have the approval of the University authorities. They are quite enthusiastic over the prospects of a fraternity row opposite the new center of the campus and are willing to aid the pioneer fraternity in this movement.

The board of directors of the corporation include members of both the active and alumnae chapters. They are: Mrs. Eliza P. Underwood, president; Miss Elizabeth Bowman, vice president; Miss Mary Moore Milton, secretary; Mrs. Virginia Marrs, treasurer; Mrs. Nancy Innes Shinnick, Miss Lucille Short, Miss Eleanor Swearingen, and Mrs. Nora Churchill.

FAYETTE FARMERS
CONVENE TODAY
AT STOCK FARMProfessor Ely in Charge of Program
Concerning Feeding of Dairy CattleBALANCED RATIONS
WILL BE EXPLAINEDObject of Meeting Is Task of Decreasing Expenses of Caring for Cattle

A one-day dairymen's feeding school for the benefit of farmers in Fayette and surrounding counties, will be held today at the livestock judging pavilion on the experiment station farm.

The session will begin at 10 a. m., with the afternoon session beginning at 1 o'clock.

Prof. Fordyce Ely, head of the dairy husbandry department of the University, will be in charge of the program. Professor Ely is recognized as one of the foremost authorities in this section on the feeding and management of dairy cattle, due to his practical and theoretical experience in this subject.

The object of this meeting is to explain the method and effect of a properly balanced ration for dairy cattle and the composition of common Kentucky feedstuffs will be explained.

Prof. E. J. Kinney, of the College of Agriculture, will discuss the "Proper Care of Pastures," and Prof. J. D. Turner, of the experiment station, will discuss in detail "Kentucky Feed Laws." He will give the definite need and effect of these laws on the buying of feed.

Due to the fact that the prices received for dairy products are unlikely to be increased, the only hope for increasing profits in the dairy business is to cut down the cost of production. The only notable expense in this business is the feed bill. The College of Agriculture recently stated that this expense claims 52 per cent of the entire cost of producing milk. Experts believe that this desired increase in expense can be obtained through more efficient methods of feeding and management. Before any definite steps can be taken for an increased production of dairy products in the territory surrounding Lexington something must be done to increase the efficiency of the dairies now operating here.

The feeding school will emphasize important factors that might aid in perfecting the dairymen's business.

W. A. A. INNOVATES
ATHLETIC GROUPSCo-eds to Be Given Sweaters in Colors of Respective Divisions;
Indian Names and Titles
Included in Plan.

The Woman's Athletic Association will introduce an innovation on the campus next week when all of the girls of the University will be divided into groups with Indian names and given sweaters in the colors of their respective groups.

This plan has been successful in many leading universities, and is being introduced here to arouse greater interest in athletics for women. The groups will be known as tribes, each of which has a "hep big chief" and a "pow-wow" council to organize their teams for the various sports.

The tribes, with their respective leaders include: Hopi, Elizabeth Cramer; Sioux, Elizabeth Skinner; Apache, Louetta Green, Kathie Hickey; Cree, Louise Thompson, and Ojibwa, Dorothy Monroe. Each tribe has its own color. The members will wear sweaters of the tribe color with the Indian name in block letters across the front of the sweater. Hopi sweaters will be blue and grey; Sioux, grey and red; Apache, green and orange; Kaw, white and green; Cree, black and orange; Ojibwa, red and black.

The purpose of organizing all girls of the University in these groups is to give every girl a chance to participate in several sports. Every co-ed is asked to support her group by attending the games as a rooter.

Following is the basketball schedule of practice for the tribes: Hopi, Monday and Thursday; Cree, Wednesday and Friday; Sioux, Wednesday and Friday; Apache, Wednesday and Thursday; Kaw, Monday and Thursday; Ojibwa, Monday and Friday.

Faculty Members
Meet for Research

The Research Club of the University held its February meeting at 6:30 p. m., Wednesday, in the office of President Frank L. McVey. The speakers included Jesse E. Adams, of the College of Education, and E. N. Ferguson, of the College of Agriculture.

The Research Club was organized on the campus about 10 years ago for the purpose of encouraging original researches and investigations by members of the faculty. Its membership is taken from those who have published meritorious magazine articles, other than those required for master's and doctor's degrees, and its roll now includes around 60 members.

MODERN TEACHING
LECTURES BEGUNDr. Floyd Reeves Gives First of Discussion Series on Trend of Educational Improvement
as Shown by Survey.

Dr. Floyd W. Reeves, director of education, last night delivered the first of a series of six lectures on Investigations and Experiments on the Improvement of College Teaching to a large crowd assembled in the new lecture room of McVey hall. The subject was "Constructive Activities in Improving Instruction in Eighty-seven Institutions."

In part Dr. Reeves said, "First-hand observation of what is going on in the colleges and universities of this country makes it perfectly clear that scientific spirit is at last beginning to operate in the field of professional education at the level of the college and the university."

"A considerable number of the colleges and universities included among those surveyed are now beginning to use objective methods in the analysis of their instructional problems. Procedures and devices designed to improve instruction seem to be employed more frequently in colleges of education and in junior colleges and junior-college divisions of four-year colleges of liberal arts than in institutions of other types. Greater use of controlled experimentation has been made by colleges of education in universities than by any other type of institution."

"It is surprising that teachers' colleges and normal schools, institutions having as their major function the improvement of teaching in elementary and high schools, should have done so little in the way of discovering methods whereby the instruction of their own students might be improved."

"The limited extent to which controlled experimentation has been carried on leads to the suggestion that investigation of this type needs to be encouraged. Colleges, universities, and teacher-training institutions would do well to test out in an objective manner the results obtained from the use of different methods, in order that the better methods may be discovered and utilized."

The series of lectures, which will be given each Thursday evening to and including April 4, is being sponsored by the Kentucky Chapter of the American Association of University Professors. The entire faculties of the University, Berea, Asbury, Transylvania, Georgetown, Kentucky Wesleyan, and Eastern State Teachers' College, have been invited to attend.

U. K. Graduate Club

The Graduate Club of the University will hold its first meeting of the year on Saturday, February 16, at 12:00 o'clock, Room 108, science building. Important announcements will be made regarding dates for handing in theses and dates of oral examinations, as well as applications for degrees, caps, gowns, and hoods. Arrangements will be made for the Graduate Club dinner. Officers will be elected.

Two Men Students
Tried By Council
For Violating Rule

At a meeting of the Men's Student Council of the University held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in President McVey's office, two men students of the University were tried on charges of having been under the influence of liquor at the Sigma Nu house dance held January 12. One of the men who appeared before the council was exonerated and the other was given a sentence of 15 days suspension from the University and all social privileges for the remainder of the school year taken from him.

According to a statement made to The Kernel last night, the council intends to continue to enforce the resolution passed last semester. Members of the council said that they were pleased with the fair and unbiased way in which The Kernel was handling publicity of the cases tried by them.

The action of the council is still gaining favor by the student body of the University. In a recent interview with a few students who were opposed to the action, the reporter who covered the council meetings learned that a number of the students had changed their viewpoint of the action.

ENGINEERS HEAR
COLONEL MORROW"Japan and the Philippines" Is Subject of Address; Excellent
Character Representation of Filipino Given.

Col. Charles H. Morrow addressed the students and faculty of the College of Engineering of the University in Dicker hall Wednesday, on "Japan and the Philippines." Dean Paul Anderson introduced the speaker to the audience which contained many distinguished visitors.

Colonel Morrow gave an excellent character representation of the Filipino, one which deflates the prevalent prejudice against an ignorant people. Due to the Chinese mixture in their blood, they are very intelligent and are able to submerge their emotions and put all things to test of logic. Individually, the Chinese mind possesses greater capacities than that of any other race. As a people, the Filipinos are delightful, kindly, and responsive, according to the colonel.

No nation has made as much progress with a savage people as the United States has with the Philippines. When this country took over, they were merely a wretched group of a thousand little islands, the largest of which were Mindano and Luzon. Health conditions were pitiful; transportation was next to impossible, and the warlike Moros were continually attacking the smaller and more peaceful inhabitants of the islands.

In concluding, Colonel Morrow praised the work of William Howard Taft and General Wood in the development of the islands. He stated that in order to continue this great work, all thought of giving the Philippines their independence must be abandoned, saying that such procedure would result in the destruction of this progress and that, if such condition existed, the islands would probably fall into the hands of Japan.

Discussion Group
Series Opens Monday

Monday evening at 7:30 in the reception room at Patterson hall, the first of a series of five discussion groups will be held to the subject, "Youth and Its Relations on the Campus." The project is being sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., and is open to the students and faculty of the University. All the meetings will be led by students in order to stimulate frank and personal discussion.

All arrangements for this series of meetings are in the hands of a committee composed of James Boucher, chairman; Gardner Whittinghill, Alice Spaulding, and Joseph Ruttenecutter. At the end of this series they will submit a composite report to the University Y. M. C. A. in which they will attempt to depict the influence of the material gained as a result of these meetings. Student leaders will be selected to present the problem to be discussed before each meeting.

Men's Glee Club Will Warble
In First Concert on TuesdayUniversity Singing Organization Believed to Be Best One in Years; Will Make Western Kentucky Trip; Plans
Made to Prevent Mob Violence

(By Martin E. Glenn)

The University Men's Glee Club, after having warbled and chirped to the complete satisfaction of the music department, will present its first concert of the season Tuesday night in the Guignol theater. If the initial performance is not fatally terminated by a massacre, the club will arrange an itinerary that will carry it into western Kentucky sometime during March.

No disastrous results, however, are expected to ensue from the syncretic concert as the organization is one of the best balanced musical clubs that has represented the University in a score of years. On the contrary, the audience is assured that it will hear a collection of delightful and harmonious melodies varying from popular piano and banjo specialties to Strauss' "Blue Danube Serenade."

The roster of the club includes such talented "song-birds" as Lawrence Alexander, Harvey Stone, Hugh Adcock, Melvin Nollau, Austin Graves, Cyrus Poole, Toy Sandefur, Robert Warren and Ray Mays. These men have been members of the organization for several seasons and are veterans of many concerts.

Local connoisseurs of music will be delighted to know that the entire musical staff is to be staged under the personal

Color Scheme Planned;
Hours 9 to 1

The annual Military Ball, given by Scabbar and Blade, honorary military fraternity, and the advanced corps students of the University R. O. T. C., will be given next Thursday night in the new Men's gymnasium from 9 to 1. Cadets and students will dance to the rhythm of music furnished by Toy Sandefur and his orchestra.

A novel feature of this year's dance is the fact that all juniors have agreed to be at the dance accompanied by their dates promptly at 9 o'clock. This is an innovation, and is being stressed in order that all the hours for dancing may be enjoyed.

The chief attraction of the ball will be a grand march, led by the officers of Scabbar and Blade, practice for which began last night to continue until Thursday. Following the grand march, new members of Scabbar and Blade will be pledged, according to a long standing custom.

R. O. T. C. sponsors who were elected this week to fill vacancies will be formally introduced during the dancing hours.

This ball is an annual event, usually occurring the night before Washington's birthday, and carrying out a red, white and blue color scheme. Decorations for the evening will consist of flags, bunting, machine guns, trench mortars, 37 mm., and other military ordinances. Further arrangements were decided upon at a meeting of Scabbar and Blade last night.

Officers of Scabbar and Blade are: Kenneth Baker, president; James Chapman, vice president; James Shropshire, treasurer; James Finley, secretary. Other members are Major Meredith, Major Spaulding, Major Wall, Captain Schmidt, Captain Gesford, Lieutenant Keasler, Howell Davis, Jess M. Laughlin, William Heizer, James Hester, W. R. Ferguson, J. THE KENTUCKY ALUMNUS

The Kentucky Alumnus is the name of the official publication of the Alumni Association of the University of Kentucky which shortly will make its appearance among the members of the Alumni Association. The complete plans for the new publication have been formulated but all will not be divulged at this time. It is the aim of the editors of the magazine to have the actual physical character and make-up of the new publication, in a measure, as a surprise.

The University of Kentucky Alumni Association is the only one, to our knowledge, that does not have its own official publication. For several years we have been using the Kentucky Kernel, the weekly student publication, as our organ and were confined to one page. This has worked a hardship on the Alumni Office, the editor of the Alumni Page and the students upon whose shoulders rests the publication of The Kernel. While we realize that a great many of the Alumni like the Kernel for its own sake as well as for the Alumni news, we believe that after the first two issues of the Kentucky Alumnus have made their appearance they will be won over to a monthly magazine.

By using the Kentucky Kernel we were forced to limit ourselves to the material that went into our columns. We were not expressing ourselves as Alumni of the University of Kentucky and we were not separating ourselves enough from the student body. While we make up the third unit of the University which is composed of the alumni, faculty and student body, we still need and must have a certain individuality. For this reason we have need of a separate publication if for no other.

The new magazine will be made up in sections; sections devoted to the different phases of Alumni and University affairs. We will give you all the athletic news in a form that will appeal. We will give you all the news of your fellow classmates and Alumni. A section will be devoted to general campus news. Another section will be devoted to University problems and University growth. In short, the Kentucky Alumnus will contain all the news of the University and be presented in a form which will make it more enjoyable to the Alumni of the University. One of the contemplated features will be interviews and articles written by Alumni who are outstanding in their field of work. It will be a clearinghouse for Alumni problems and it will contain space in which any Alumnus may air his views, praise and criticism of the University, Association or officers.

As to the price, it will remain the same. A subscription to the magazine will be $3.00 a year and will carry with it a paid up membership in the Association.

We cannot resist one allusion to the physical make-up of the Kentucky Alumnus. It will contain each issue numerous pictures of the campus, Alumni and faculty members. It will be attractive and one of which you will be proud.

There will be ten issues each year and the first will make its appearance early in May, according to our present plans. We also plan to run the subscriptions on a regular basis and not by the fiscal year system as we do at present. In other words, your subscription will run from May until May, or March until March, and not for the scholastic year.

The editors of the new magazine believe that it will please the greatest number of Alumni and will in the end be more appealing than the present system.

Will Study Effect of Exercise on Character

Benefits of Physical Education
Are Weighed at New York University

A study based on the effect of physical education on character and personality is the subject of an extensive research program in the department of physical education at New York University.
An evaluation of the physiological effects of exercise and the classification of persons in an effort to determine the kind of activity that is best suited to the various types, are among the new phases of physical education to be studied.
In commenting upon this, Professor Lloyd is reported by the New York Times as saying: "For centuries science has placed the emphasis on the benefits derived from training the body, concentrating entirely upon the physical health and strength side. In this age, when the individual lives at such a high emotional pitch, the psychological effects of physical education are increasing in importance.
"Although it has long been believed that activities which peculiarly belong to physical education contribute to character and personality, no attempt has been made to determine the degree. Our work will be largely in an unexplored field. This field represents one of the outstanding needs in physical education and will help materially to increase knowledge of the whole of the physical educational program."
Professor Lloyd pointed out that the department of physical education at New York University has a suitable training equipment to carry out research in the evaluation of the physiological effects of physical activity, the second phase of the research program. A new laboratory which will be completed next year, according to Professor Lloyd, will have the finest equipment that it is possible to obtain.
Work in the classification of individuals is going forward in cooperation with the Experimental Society of New York City. A great amount of research work in this phase is also being done in local schools.
More than thirty graduate students in the department of physical education are aiding the faculty in this research. These students are mainly teachers of physical training and athletic coaches in local institutions and work on their assignments under direct faculty supervision. A faculty member is assigned to each student, who in turn reports the progress of the student to the committee on research of the School of Education.
The maximum benefits from scientific interpretation and the application of physical education are expected by Professor Lloyd to result from this research program.

THE DILEMMA OF FRESHMAN ENGLISH

(Written in response to numerous requests by students taking freshman English)

A scholastic problem on which The Kernel hesitates to express an opinion is that of freshman English. Many requests have been received that we ask editorially the reason why so many students fail in this course, implying that we take the English department to task for such a disparagement. The blame, however, is not that easily placed.

One instructor has summed up the question quite adequately in saying that the fault is not that of the student, nor the instructor, but the fault of both. Each expects too much from the other. The question, then, is how this fault is to be remedied.

Freshman English is one subject which practically every college student must take. It is usually among the first subjects taken. Students are discouraged when they flunk it, and this quite often influences their college career.

It cannot be denied, however, that many students come here with all too inadequate preparation. And it cannot be denied that in many cases there is insufficient application on the part of the student. Just how far this can be used as a basis for the number of failures in the freshman English course is a different question.

Frankly, The Kernel believes that the English department has been too severe. On the other hand, it can offer no solution to the problem. The only thing it can ask is for a closer co-operation between instructor and student, and a study of the conditions now existing with the view of employing better methods. Any such change must come about through the action of the English department, and The Kernel believes such a change is necessary. It is fully aware of the problem which that department faces, and has attempted to present the question from the point of view of both the student and the instructor.

THE SATURATION POINT IN COLLEGE ENROLLMENT

The Boston Transcript, in its annual survey of college enrollments, reveals that the percentage of gain in the number of college students attending colleges is lower this year than it has been for some time, according to the New Student.

Several reasons are given for the decline. Dean Raymond Walters in "School and Society" gives the following possible causes: industrial and agricultural conditions; the development of junior colleges and the deliberate limitation of enrollments by educators. The presumption is that a permanent level of college attendance will exist in the next few years. The apex of the long climb evidently has been reached.

The question is whether such a permanent level will be beneficial or detrimental. The Kernel believes it will be the former. Buildings and methods of teaching can be standardized when a definite number of students are to be provided with accommodations. The status of the graduate will be higher. At present, people are none too patient with him. The contumely of their indifference and cynicism reacts unfavorably on the standards which universities attempt to represent.

In the estimation of The Kernel, the saturation point of higher education has been reached. Evidence that educators realize the situation may be seen in the yearly raising of requirements for entrance. The business world and the cultural classes have come to expect it, and they rule educational procedure because they are the ultimate end of knowledge as it is determined in America, where the tempo of life is achievement and efficiency.

After all, a college is not a place for frivolous persons, nor a four-year vacation for the youths of the country. Rather, it represents that which culminates in success and innumerable benefits. It is only natural, then, that universities take the attitude that the fittest shall survive.

Since a generation usually produces the same proximate number of outstanding men and women, educational institutions must take steps to provide for them. High expenditures are involved and a greater amount of thought and care than the average layman suspects. When a definite enrollment may be expected each year, adequate preparation for training students will be facilitated. The Kernel believes that present indications point to such an advantageous permanent level. It is not too difficult to see the benefits derived therefrom, nor the reason for the standardization of college attendance records.

A MATTER OF VISION

The University of Kentucky is changing. It is growing. The changes incurred by growth have been steady during the past few months, but like our personal physical growth in the past few years it was so steady that we did not notice it.

View the changes that have transpired even since the beginning of the first semester, last September. McVey hall is completed and is being used. The new memorial building is almost completed and will soon be used. Ground has been broken for a new men's dormitory. Contracts for two other buildings have been let.

One of the greatest changes, and one that probably is the least noticed at present, is the addition to the University property of the city dump land across Limestone street. A new building will be erected there this year.

Those who are sufficiently inspired by the present evidences of growth to investigate further may learn that plans already are drawn for sixteen more buildings on University property. Those who have foresight can vision the great university that will be ours in a few more years: a university double and triple the size and value of the 1928 institution; an institution of learning which will be even more the pride of every Kentuckian.

But long before we average persons had visions of our university's future greatness, a man of really great vision planned it. Long before we had visions of two or three additional buildings on the campus, Dr. Frank LeRond McVey had in his office plans and specifications for sixteen new buildings.

IN YOUR EYES

What matter if I know I'm not a goddess,
If you think of me so?
Or care if the world counts me not a beauty,
When you find it hidden
In my eyes, my laugh
And the songs of my heart?
So I shall not care what they might see
As long as you deify me, love me,
Far above my worth.

—MARGARET CUNDIFF.

THE POET

I, alone, have the time to gaze with white realization
At the stark gestures of leaves against shadows,
The brief flash of wings in the sunset.
To me, alone, is revealed the still tragedy
Of gaunt, old cliffs in the moonlight,
The poignance of the wild geese' trailing cry.
In my heart, of all the world, is the ache
Of these beautiful and sad things—
Sad, only because they are beautiful, thus fleeting.
I am the singer of songs—mother of all mankind.
Mine is the great understanding and pity for little man.

—MARJORY GOULD.

I SHALL REMEMBER

There will be eyes—
There will be other eyes after yours—
Passionate and wide—
The same passion and wonder
That cries out from yours.
There will be eyes, and lips,
And the white pain of a sea-gull's cry.
But never, never, shall I hear again
The whisper of footsteps moving in marsh grass
Without quick terror in my start—
Without remembrance in my eyes—
Remembrance of you who were only another passionate glance,
Another touch, in a series,
Only another, yet in this small, infinitesimal way,
Unique, and startling clear.
I will remember you when footsteps sound
In marsh grasses.

—MARJORY GOULD.

Music, Stage and Screen

(By Thomas L. Riley)

Sunday will see a contest in the movie circles of Lexington. One theater will present Dolores Costello in a picture called "The Redeeming Sin" and another will offer Del Rio in "The Red Dance." Both stars have the same given names, both titles are alluring to the public and both productions are quite worthy. But one can never gamble on the whims of the public so it is hard to tell just which attraction will receive the greater support at the box office.

"Red Dance" at Strand Sunday
Since making "What Price Glory" Dolores Del Rio has been one of the screen's leading lights. She has followed her first success admirably with "Loves of Carmen," "Resurrection," "The Trail of '98" and several others. Now, in "The Red Dance," which opens at the Strand Sunday, we have the star doing some of her greatest work in a mighty good picture. The Russian Revolution is the central theme of the offering and although this famous conflict has been used many times on the silver sheet there are so many sides to the fray as to make each one of them interesting. Of course the theme concerns the love of a peasant girl for a prince who, in the strictest sense, is nothing but a hokum; we think that we have made the statement previous to this that hokum, if done well, is fine entertainment, and "The Red Dance" is done exceptionally well. Raoul Walsh, maker of "What Price Glory," "Sadie Thompson," and "In Old Arizona," directed "The Red Dance" with a skill that is characteristic of his splendid work, according to advance reports. An excellent supporting cast is offered with Charles Farrell, Ivan Linow, Dorothy Revier, seen this week in "Submarine," and many others. It is said that Mr. Farrell gives an outstanding performance. "The Red Dance" is synchronized with Fox Movietone and a theme song which most of us have heard called "Someday, Somewhere" is used very effectively. We think that everyone will enjoy this Fox picture. It has been praised highly by newspapers everywhere.

"The Redeeming Sin" at Kentucky Sunday
When Dolores Costello and Conrad Nagel made "Tenderloin" some time ago, they proved that they could do well in talking sequences. They made several more part talkers including "Glorious Betsy" and have been improving steadily. In "The Redeeming Sin," which comes to the Kentucky Sunday for a four-day run we will hear them talk again. In this picture from the Warner Brothers' studio, Miss Costello appears as a Parisian wail in the underworld of the French capital who dances in one of the cafes. She is supported by Conrad Nagel, Lionel Belmore, George Stone, Warner Richmond, Philippe de Lacy, and Nina Quartero, who appeared to such advantage in "The Red Mark" recently. Howard Bretherton directed "The Redeeming Sin" which is accompanied by a musical score via the Vitaphone route with several talking sequences. The picture has an absorbing plot and many thrilling scenes, and should prove to be worth while entertainment.

Brief Review of Current Attractions

"In Old Arizona," Strand, Fox picture. Held over and deserves it. Do not, under any consideration, miss it. The best all-talking picture to date.
"The Showman Angel," Kentucky, Paramount picture. Ham melodrama that gets sentimental but enlivened by good performances from Nancy Carroll and Gary Cooper. Fair.

"The Bushranger," Ben Ali, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture. A western done in better style than the average. Tim McCoy is the star. The Seaman Players on the stage offer "The Lingerie Shop," a very amusing farce.
"The Dagger," Guignol theater. A spectacular mystery play that has amazed as well as entertained audiences. Splendid direction and staging are the outstanding points in the production.

What Other College Men Have Done With Kresge

"Graduating from Western Reserve University in 1921, I began business life with an idea that I was fitted for managerial work. I left my comfortable desk work and started in the stockroom. Then I worked successively as floor manager, assistant manager, and manager. I then received my biggest promotion, and today I am happily located in an executive position, with increased responsibilities.

The financial return that has come to me exceeds all that I had expected."
Colby B. S. '15—Wesleyan M. S. 1917
—A Phi Beta Kappa man became an instructor until 1920, then assistant head chemist for an Eastern manufacturer until 1922 when he entered the Kresge organization to take the training course. He is now a manager of a Kresge store and claims: "Today I find myself receiving a greater income than the teachers and industrial acquaintances who sought to discourage me for making such a radical change of occupation."

A Missouri University graduate enthusiastically relates the following: "In June of 1923, just after I had been prevented with my much treasured sheepskin, a gray haired gentleman with years of experience said to me 'Just what the future holds for you will depend largely on the steps you now during the next few years. Take my advice and select some good company, begin at the bottom and work your way to the top.' I followed his advice by starting in the stockroom of a Kresge store on December 8, 1923.

Today I am managing my first store, happy in the thought that I am on the road to success."

AFTER the years of college then there comes to many men the most trying period of their careers. What place does the world have for them? For what niche has their training best suited them? Where do they fit?

It is to these seniors who have not yet fully decided on their future that this advertisement is addressed.

The S. S. Kresge Company has an opportunity for college men who are ambitious enough and capable enough to reach the top — yet who are willing to start at the bottom. These men we train to be store managers and to occupy other executive positions — well paid positions involving a share in the Kresge profits. The men selected are given intensive preparation for their future executive positions, they are instructed in every detail of store management and they are advanced as rapidly as they become familiar with the Kresge policy and the Kresge methods of merchandising. The work is not easy but the reward is not small — an executive position in the Kresge organization which operates 510 stores with an annual volume of business close to $150,000,000.

If a career such as those described here appeals to you, write our Personnel Department and a Kresge representative will be sent to give you a personal interview.

What Others Have Done You Can Do

A Bucknell College graduate writes: "After graduating from college with the degree of B. S. and M. A. I accepted a position as Chemistry instructor in a small college. After two years as an instructor, I became dissatisfied and decided to enter the business world.

I became acquainted with an enthusiastic Kresge manager, who gladly explained their system of training men to become store managers. Shortly after that I started in the stockroom, received promotions according to my ability to earn them, and today although a successful store manager I am in line for still greater responsibilities.

I know of no other organization where a man's efforts will be better repaid than with the Kresge Company."

An alumnus of the University of Michigan class of 1922 says: "The most important problem confronting me the last semester in school was choosing the 'job' that would begin when campus days were over. To make the right start in the business world was my ambition. I turned down several soft soap jobs, the kind that paid fairly well to start but held no future, for a stockroom job with the Kresge Company which paid little to start but offered a definite future. I combined my education with good common sense and after applying myself diligently, I was rapidly promoted to greater responsibilities.

Today I am manager of a good sized store, and gladly recommend the Kresge Company as a means to a definite end, providing you possess the necessary qualifications and a whole hearted desire to succeed."

IT'S WONDERFUL!

(BY MARTIN R. GLENN)

Now it came to pass that the royal family was assembled in the courtyard of the palace playing poker, for in those days mah-jong was unheard of. Cleopatra, in her resplendent gown, was stretched upon a luxurious couch. A venomous cobra entwined itself about her marble-white limbs as she inhaled the mellow fragrance of a Lucky Strike.

An Ethiopian maid announced the arrival of Mark Anthony. Cleopatra ordered him to come forth but he slipped on a cake of Ivory Soap and came fifth—thereby losing the race. "My word," gasped the nobility in unison, "he is awkward as Horatio at bridge."

"Well hello, mama," shouts Mark, as he madly rushes to the outstretched arms of Cleopatra. "Hello, baby," says the beautiful young ruler. "What kind of costly jewel dost thou bring me to-day?" "Be your age, Cleo," says Mark, "you know that I can't give you anything but love. My mission is to be-seech you to accompany me to the Engineers Ball. What dost thou say?" "O.K.M.N. and X," says Cleo, in a thrilled tone of voice, "but tell me, can't thou do the Charleston and the Jew's Hop?" "Aye, sister, I can do these things—and how. Furthermore," continues Mark Antony, "we shall have the opportunity of seeing Romeo and Juliet demonstrate that new shuffle they call the Ocean Roll."

"Now that you have consented to be my drag," says Mark, "I must needs tie myself to the abode of my private bootlegger and secure a quantity of home-brew and synthetic gin so that we may be able to make whoopee."

"Ah, dear heart," sighs Cleo, "take heed lest thy enemy Cassius pursue thee to thy native haunts and reports thy intemperate activities to yon Student Council."

"Never fear, my little lolly-pop, says he. 'I am armed with my trusty slingshot. I go and when I return I shall be back and if, during my absence, my presence bores you, just wait here until I return. Au revoir ma cherie.'"

After the exit of Mark Antony, the members of the court resumed their game of cards. Virgil checked openers, Didi bet one semolian, Cicero raised the pot six bits and Marcus Aurelius called with a royal flush. During the mirth and hilarity that followed, Julius Caesar crept to the couch of the Queen of the Nile, dropped to his knees, and began to coo like a zebra.

"Get thee gone thou varlet," says Cleopatra. "Dost thou not perceive that I am deeply engrossed in reading the Kentucky Kernel? But tell me, oh thou brave Julius, who are these brilliant young Phi Beta Kappas?"

"Bah," says Caesar, rising angrily. "I came not here for words. I crave love and attention—"

"And attention thou shalt have." These words came from a remote section of the court-yard. Ah, the words were spoken by Brutus and even as he spoke he angrily advanced toward the Roman soldier. "Draw thy sword, thou lecherous and lascivious knave, ere I slay thee with one stroke of my rusty blade."

A mighty combat ensued in which Caesar was mortally wounded. "How can ever I repay thee?" says Cleopatra to Brutus. "Go with me to the Engineers' Ball," he replied. "Sorry, old fruit, but me and Mark Antony is going together."

"What—you going with that bum? Why, Cleo, he ain't even a fraternity man."

"Nevertheless," Cleopatra replies, "he's the cream in my coffee and do I love him?—Deed I do."

"Thou gold-digger," exclaims Brutus as he recovers his trusty blade from the body of Caesar, and thrusts it through his own heart.

"Whoops, my dears," cries Cleopatra in girlish glee. "Now I can collect his insurance and do the raccoon."

(Moral to this story: The modern gold-digger, when weighed in the balance, is found wanting—and wanting—and wanting.)

5,000,000 In Germany

Prof. Henri Passeh, friend of Coue and one of his most devoted followers, is at the head of the movement. An advertising campaign, toward which 250,000 francs have been contributed, is to be started in the British Isles.

While the Couelists hope to gain a million new believers in Great Britain, Germany already boasts 5,000,000 who practice and repeat the old formula: "Every day in every way, I am getting better and better." That was Coue's cure for all evil, material and physical.

Parisian Couelists, of whom there are thousands among the fashionable classes, have introduced a sort of rosary of gold, silver and platinum, to keep track of their repetitions.

This is the cure announced by Prof. Passeh in the case of persons who lack self-confidence. On rising, the one who realizes that he or she has not sufficient success owing to lack of self-confidence, should face the mirror and gaze steadily at its center.

Candy-Gorgers Worse On Health Than Co-ed Smokers, Says Doctor

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (By D. U. C. P.)—College girls who smoke are not impairing their health as much as non-smokers who eat lots of candy, is the statement of Dr. Anna Richardson, Smith College physician, who has just made a survey of cigarette popularity among the students of that institution.

Dr. Richardson, in an article gives facts and figures on the smoking situation, entitled, "How Well Are the Seniors? Two-thirds of the girls are occasional or habitual users of cigarettes."

Twenty-one per cent smoked five to 20 cigarettes per day, 21 per cent smoked one to four cigarettes per day, 20 per cent smoked occasionally "to be in it socially or not to be a silent rebuke to their friends," and 35 per cent did not smoke.

Actual harm in smoking itself is probably not so great as to continuously nibble on sweets, was the statement made by Dr. Richardson in reviewing the situation.

ORANGES TO CURE UNBALANCED MIND

Couesism to Become Universal Science of Mind Healing and Psychiatry.

PARIS—Couesism, the cult of auto-suggestion and self-confidence invented by the little drug store keeper of Nancy, Emil Coue, is to branch out into a universal science of mind healing and psychiatry. Colors are to be used for curing mental diseases.

A bowl of oranges, for instance placed in the center of a room, is guaranteed to rid backward children and adults of an unbalanced mind.

Kleptomaniacs, who know themselves to be such, will find solace and riddance from their trait in gazing each day for a few hours upon a white tablecloth. This will bring a cure within two months' time, according to Coue's disciples.

Prof. Henri Passeh, friend of Coue and one of his most devoted followers, is at the head of the movement. An advertising campaign, toward which 250,000 francs have been contributed, is to be started in the British Isles.

While the Couelists hope to gain a million new believers in Great Britain, Germany already boasts 5,000,000 who practice and repeat the old formula: "Every day in every way, I am getting better and better." That was Coue's cure for all evil, material and physical.

Blue Cures Rheumatism

These words should be followed by a bit of physical exercise. "One should expand the chest and stand in a self-confident manner. Pace up and down the room a few times, with an authoritative stride and plan the course of the day in an authoritative, self-confident manner."

Rheumatism also can be cured: "Concentrate for ten minutes, three times daily, on a sheet of light blue paper. Hangings should also be of this color, which is valuable for all healing concentration."

Noah's Ark Will Be Sought by Airships

Noted Engineer Plans Search; Would Be Shown at World's Fair in 1933

CHICAGO—A search is soon to be made for Noah's Ark.

The suggestion was made by William H. Strong, former president of the Chicago Chapter, American Association of Engineers, with the idea that the old boat be brought to the forthcoming World's Fair in 1933.

That the Ark may be found is believed by Mr. Armstrong because of the fact that wooden chariot wheels have recently been unearthed at Kish, Mesopotamia, from a depth of 45 feet. The age of these wheels is estimated at 5,000 years.

"It is safe to assume," he says, "that only fire, an earthquake or an avalanche could have destroyed the Ark, because it was built of gopher wood, notorious for its ability to withstand all decay."

It is proposed to search over and around Mount Ararat by airplanes equipped with strong cameras. Vast sections of this territory have never been explored.

Course in Photoplay Appreciation Is New Study at University of Southern California

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Designed to give an accurate conception of the photoplay as an art form and as a social institution, a new college course in "Photoplay Appreciation" is announced by President R. B. Kleinsmid of the University of Southern California, to open with the spring semester.

Lectures dealing with the history and evolution of the photoplay, critical analysis of modern screen stories, and the social significance of the photoplay are to be given by qualified members of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, of which Douglas Fairbanks is president and Milton Sills is chairman of the committee on college affairs, and by S. C. faculty members.

"It is anticipated that this course will be developed in such a way as to give students and auditors a clear idea of the importance of the photoplay to the intellectual, social, moral, and esthetic culture of the world," states Dean Waugh. "Students will be required to observe and comment on current photoplays. Permanent reproduction by Vitaphone and Movietone, will make the selected lectures later available to all colleges, we plan. In addition, a new textbook and a new literature, critical, analytical, and allied to the screen art, will be developed as soon as possible."

The subject matter of the course has been prepared from bibliographical sources and from information gained through questionnaires and interviews with members of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences and university authorities.

At the end of the first term's work the syllabus will be revised and developed as experiences and observations gleaned from the semester's experimental course indicate.

Sophistication Is Replacing Cynicism In American Youth

PRINCETON, N. J.—(I. P. & D. P.)—"America indeed seems to be acquiring a sophistication born of vicarious or imaginary suffering, and our youthful intelligentsia have developed an active cynicism."

So says Lynn Carriek, '20, in an article on "Sophistication on the Campus," the leading article in a recent issue of Princeton Alumni Weekly.

The author sees the manifestations of this sophistication in the changes in students' clothing within the last decade. The radically different clothing of today would have evoked "catcalls and abusive whistling, and much leaning out of dormitory windows" on the campus of an earlier day. In the college man's room, "a row of steins and a class banner have given place to a less ascetic conception of interior decorating."

However, Carriek adds that "this sophistication is not confined to dress. The young iconoclasts are busily engaged in writing editorials in the college journals expressing bland doubts about much that has been heretofore regarded as academically sacred and holy. Faculties are placed on the defensive, and startled professors are diligently explaining the purposes and aims of the colleges as they see them, not without some disagreement among themselves."

The author sees the university book store as the barometer of the new undergraduate spirit, pointing out that "At Princeton University Store the book sales have now more than tripled since the war, although the student enrollment has been augmented by only about 25 per cent."

Stating that the "high-brow" movement is not restricted to a group, he tells a husky Hanover athlete whom he discovered "discussing Marcel Proust with a book clerk."

Carriek finds that at many colleges members of the faculty have played an important part in stimulating the students' interest in books. The broadened literary taste is also reflected in the fact that many college dailies regularly issue literary supplements.

He concludes with, "And when the sartorial pendulum swings back toward less emphasis on dress (if it ever does), let us hope that reading will ever remain the fashion among the secretly startled but superficially blasé youth of America!"

ASBURY STUDENTS WILL AID IN REVIVAL SER

During the two weeks of February 4 to 19, the students of Asbury College and the community will have the opportunity of participating in the mid-winter revival of the Wilmore M. E. church, south.

The Rev. Tony M. Anderson, an evangelist of national repute, is the leader of these meetings. His clear, forceful messages without any pretense of masking his purpose and aim have already touched the hearts of many and the meetings forecast to be a success.

"Thumbs up"
the spirit of industry...

FOR every race or game or debate that one team wins, another must lose... It's forever "thumbs up" or "thumbs down", according to which side you are on. But in industry there's one side only.

Enlightened industry back every man on her teams. For it is to industry's advantage to see that every man makes good. Here you have an inspiring picture. Co-operation. The "vet" encouraging the novice. All industry rooting for achievement.

It is not surprising then that so many men have found the interests of after-college years fully as broad and as absorbing as those of undergraduate days.

GRID CANDIDATES BEGIN SPRING PRACTICE

When Head Coach Gamage issued his call last week for spring football practice, the would-be candidates knew that his word was law. Consequently, at the first session on Monday he was greeted by 60 aspirants for his 1929 Wildcat eleven.

The weather this week has not been very suitable for practice as the ground was frozen and covered with snow. Nevertheless, the men have worked out daily, sometimes on the frozen ground and at other times going through their paces in rear of the south side of the stadium where straw and sawdust have been scattered over the ground.

Even though the weather is disagreeable the men have shown a willingness to work and appear to have taken a great deal of interest in this pre-season workout. The line candidates have spent most of their time going through the old familiar "two and one" which carries with it some pretty hard knocks. The backfield men got off with the lightest work as they just practiced a few of the backfield tricks such as handling the ball, running, twisting, pivoting, side-stepping and dodging.

On the days that they practiced out on the field, every man received some instructions about his own particular position. Coach Gamage picked two teams, a mixture of last year's men and some of the new ones that were out for the first time, and ran a few old plays of the past season in which the backfield men bore the brunt of the work.

Of the 60 candidates, approximately half are freshmen at the present, the others are members from the varsity squad of last season. Some are members of the varsity and frosh basketball squads, and are also football players.

Coach Gamage believes in getting an early start and as far as we know, the Kentucky Wildcats are the first team in the Southern Conference to start spring football practice. We don't mind one bit in predicting that the 'Cats are going to have an awful tough, fighting aggregation this fall and that some of the teams in the conference better watch their step when they take the field against Kentucky this coming season.

Washington and Jefferson College has passed a ruling prohibiting the marriage of undergraduates during the school year under penalty of expulsion.

(By Wayman Thomasson)

Coach Bernie Shively's University of Kentucky track squad will engage in five dual meets this season before entering the Southern Conference meet at Birmingham. Meets with Vanderbilt, Tennessee and Sewanee have already been arranged. Two more with Centre, L. S. U., Georgia, or Florida are tentative, according to S. A. Bales, athletic director.

Last season the Kentucky team won three out of four dual meets, beginning the season auspiciously with a one-point victory over Vanderbilt at Nashville. It was the first time in 20 years that the Commodore team had suffered in a dual meet. Tennessee was the only team which upset the brilliant 'Cats under the leadership of William Gess, the South's undefeated champion in the middle distances.

Captain Gess first acquired his place in stardom by a scintillating victory in the 1,000-yard-run at the Illinois Relays in which 87 schools and colleges were represented by 800 athletes. Leading from the start he outlasted Orville Martin, of Purdue, the Western Conference champion, clipping three seconds off the record after one of the most dramatic finishes in track annals. With five yards to go Gess' shoe strings broke under the strain. One shoe flew way up in the track as he dashed across the finish line a scant two yards ahead.

Second In Tech Relay

The Wildcat relay team finished second in the two-mile relay at the Georgia Tech Relays and third in the medley relay. Gess won the conference championship in the half-mile, clipping two seconds off the old record. His time was 1:56.6. The relay team also got third place in the conference mile relay.

This season Coach Shively will not have an outstanding star like Gess but he will have a larger and better squad that will be able to pile up points in the dual meets. Clyde Jones, frosh star last season, will be relied on to fill the place left vacant by Gess who has completed his three years of competition. Jones did not lose a race in the quarter or half mile events last season.

The team will be captained by Roy Kavanaugh, veteran shot putter and discus thrower. Urevig and Forquer, football stars, are also strong contenders in the field events. Freddie McLane, if he becomes eligible, will be one of the most valuable men on the squad. McLane can broad jump around 22 feet and high jump around the six-foot mark. West, varsity letter man in the broad jump, also can exceed 20 feet.

Relay Team Weakened

The relay team, one of the features of the team last season, will not be quite as colorful without Gess' famed finishes. Spooks Milward, basketball star, Jones, Twaddell, Hamon and Johnston will compete for places on the team besides Hayes Owens, veteran from last year. Hayes Owens and Clyde Jones will probably get the call in the quarter mile, and Hamon and Twaddell in the half mile. Crosby and Riley from the frosh team appear to be the outstanding milers. Cochran, former captain of the Yale freshman team, and David Young are veterans in the two-mile event.

Coach Shively will have a job developing a hurdler to replace Lewis Root, undefeated co-star with Bill Gess last season. Gibson in the high hurdles and Maxson in the low hurdles appear to be best. The sprinters are weak again this season, according to past performances. Holt, Weaver and Harris, all inexperienced performers, will compete in the 100 and 220.

The schedule follows:
April 6—Centre at Stoll Field (tentative).
April 13—Vanderbilt at Stoll Field.
April 20—Tulane at New Orleans (tentative).
April 27—Tennessee at Stoll Field.
May 4—Sewanee at Sewanee.
May 10, 11—Southern Conference meet at Birmingham.

Washington and Lee Falls Before 'Cats

Defeating Washington and Lee last Friday night by a score of 31-30, the Wildcats halted the Generals' winning streak at eight games and at the same time stepped into prominence in southern basketball circles. The mighty Virginian five was one of the two undefeated teams in the conference at that time, and was ranked at the head of the list with Georgia Tech.

THE HONOR MAN

Captain Lawrence McGinnis, that husky, handsome, dark man whom Joe Godfrey Jr., sports editor of College Humor, recently mentioned as a likely candidate for All-American basketball honors after McGinnis' wonderful performance against Notre Dame at South Bend a few weeks ago, is eligible for another year of varsity competition.

Although he entered school four years ago, Mac did not go out for the team his sophomore year and he WILL play again next season. Captain McGinnis is a true Scotchman. He and his awkward countryman, the sharpshooting McBrayer, are too tight to allow the opposing team to make any points. Last Friday night McGinnis piloted his 'Cats through a tough battle with the Generals, and the Scotchman's defensive play might be termed one of the salient factors in Kentucky close victory.

BACK STAGE

A Broadway stage success is the culmination of a year of planning, working, selecting, and spending. Flo Ziegfeld's latest hit, a Venetian piece, is reported to have cost a quarter of a million just for the scenery and costumes. Football requires the same tedious, slow moving preparation. After the last game in the fall there is a brief let down before spring practice, during which a new schedule is made. Another brief pause for examinations and then, ice wagons, coal mines, wheat fields, and rock piles discover hundreds of ambitious athletes toiling with phenomenal energy to develop brawn and muscle for football. Summer is over and the boys rush back to school three weeks early to start the last stage of their development into famous stars. Only a little while and the first game in October. For weeks and months the coaches have planned new formations and new plays to suit their embryonic stars. The players have bruised themselves recklessly, seeking a place on the team. The initial game. Mistakes appear and are corrected. At least, the first big game. Thousands of critical fans come to see "what they've got this year." A "first night" on Broadway. The people pay to be entertained. A year of work. Three hours of pleasure for the fans.

IT LOOKS LIKE, as a president Mr. Hoover is making a greater vacationist.

ONE PRESIDENT of a Southern college recently protested against student spy systems in the university. He might also have added that if any of his students thought they had talent as detectives, he could recommend the Pinkerton correspondence school for sleuths and not his Arts and Sciences college.

at the opening whistle and were never headed although their loyal supporters had severe heart attacks when the visitors twice pulled up within one point.

The Mauermen collected 12 points in rapid succession at the opening of the game before the Generals could connect for a field goal.

In the second half of the fray, Washington and Lee apparently corrected their range and the netting on their goal began to get hot. With a margin of 22-21, the 'Cats started on another spree, garnering nine more points. However, this lead was short lived and only by close guarding were the Blue and White Players able to stave off the visitors' closing rush.

Freshmen Will Play Wesleyan Saturday

The Big Green basketball squad will journey to Winchester tomorrow night where they will clash with the Wesleyan frosh. Kentucky holds a victory over this team during the first part of the season but since then Wesleyan has been piling up history and demolishing dope-buckets.

The 32 to 23 triumph of the Kittens gained in the last few minutes of the previous game is forgotten when it is learned that Wesleyan defeated Georgetown, Centre, and finally the University of Louisville, the only outfit to hand a lemon to the Kentucky first year men this season.

Coach M. E. Potter has not announced the names of the men who will make the trip.

Kavanaugh Defeated By Kittens, 25 to 16

Recovering from their defeat at the hands of the University of Louisville freshmen, the Kittens of the University of Kentucky led Kavanaugh High school throughout a basketball game Tuesday night in the Men's gymnasium and ended the fracas with a score of 25 to 16.

Coach Potter started a revised lineup in the Kavanaugh game and used nine men during the course of the battle. Yates, Kitten center, was shifted to a forward position in order that Phillips, another lanky member of the squad, might fill the pivot position.

Kentucky piled up a lead in the first half while Kavanaugh eased up an inferiority complex. In the second period the high school boys forgot their stage fright and outscored the Big Green team by one point.

The lineups:
Kittens (25) Pos. (16) Kavanaugh Yates F. Bartlett Kendall (11) F. Hawthorne Phillips (3) C. (11) F. Sale Kleiser (5) G. (1) J. Sale Little G. (2) Houchin Substitutions: Kittens—Roberts (4), Bell, Kistner, Townsend (2). Kavanaugh—Phillips (2), Yocum. Referee, Peak, Kentucky.

GUIGNOL HAS SIGN

The Guignol Theater, home of "The Dapper" and other plays, has an electric sign. The sign was made for and donated to the Forge Shop of the College of Engineering. The sign, which is about four feet by three has the name of the theater across the top and, this week, is announcing "the Dapper" to all who pass along Euclid avenue.

The athletic board of Lynchburg College has decided to award a monogram only once to an athlete. After his first letter he will receive a certificate and star.

Wildcats Throw Centre for 47 to 11 Loss Wednesday

(By Laurence Shropshire)

Playing as a Kentucky team always plays when the Colonels of Centre College offer the opposition, the Wildcat basketball squad swept aside every feeble effort of the visitors Wednesday night and sent them back to Danville under a crushing 47-11 massacre. Not fooled by the disguise of their traditional rivals who were clad in flaming red B. V. D.'s upon which the alphabet had been inscribed, the Mauermen left favorites added another insult to the growing number of abuses heaped on the heads of the helpless Colonels. Anyway, it wasn't very nice of the band to whoop it up during the half with that old song about "Poor Old Centre Ain't What She Used To Be."

Recently toppled from the pinnacles of the S. I. A. A. chase by Berea, the Colonels came to Lexington with blood in their eyes, but it was all in vain. Led by that unknown quantity, Mr. X, in other words Captain Jimmy Goings, the scarlet-clad warriors who upheld the gold and white standard of Centre, went down fighting before the greatest defensive team that has represented Kentucky in recent years.

Failing to display the accuracy and dash with which they embarrassed the Generals of Washington and Lee last week, the Wildcats, nevertheless, got down to business after an undetermined start and soon sewed up the affair. The leech-like defensive work of the Kentuckians limited the Colonels to three field goals, all of which were achieved in the final stanza. And as if to all to the humiliation of the visitors, Coach Mauer substituted freely, injecting into the fray his "wrecking crew" or those heroes of the gridiron who desired to have at least one more crack at old Centre.

"Spooks" Milward was high point man of the encounter and his work was more consistent than that of any other player on the floor. Pisgah Combs tipped in five craps during his sojourn on the hardwood, to score ten points or one less than Milward. May with six tallies was the best that Centre had to offer.

The lineup and summary:
Kentucky (47) Pos. (11) Centre
Louis Mc-Ginnis (7) F. (6) May
Spicer (8) F. (1) Graubuck
Milward (11) C. (1) Staley
McBryer (2) G. (2) Deaton
Lawrence
McGinnis (2) G. Goings
Substitutions: Kentucky — Owens (4), Combs (10), Glib, Dees, Bronston, Trot (3), Miller, Centre — Boyle (2), Groff, Bourne, Bluninger, Referee — Lane.

Huge Price Paid For Manuscript

One of Lord Byron's Works Brings $27,000 At New York Auction

NEW YORK—A manuscript by Lord Byron brought $27,000 recently at the second auction of the library of Jerome Kern, composer. The manuscript is that of "Marino Faliero, Doge of Venice," and includes a dedication letter to Douglas Philbrick, a nine-page preface and two letters to the publisher. The manuscript covers 71 folio pages. The new owner is the Doubleday Company.

Another Byron item, which rivaled the high price paid for "Marino Faliero," was the original autograph manuscript of cantos 14 and 15 of "Don Juan," written on 49 folio pages and signed at the end with Byron's flourish. The manuscript went to Gabriel Wells for $20,000. Mr. Wells also paid $8,250 for a first edition of Byron's "Apostrophe Poem 'Waltz,' which is exclusively rare in the original state. The original autograph manuscript of Byron's "The Death," with a copy of the poem printed and bound for the poet, went to Barnett J. Beyer, Inc., for $8,250.

A volume which excited high bidding because of its great association interest was a copy of the first edition of Byron's "Child Harold's Pilgrimage," which brought the poet to the notice of Miss Milbanks whom he afterward married. This volume went to Gabriel Wells for $5,100. The same buyer obtained, for $3,250, the first and last page of Byron's original manuscript of the third canto of "Child

BASKETBALL

The intra-mural basketball opened with a bang last night when four games were played in the Mens gymnasium. The contests which were scheduled for the initial program were Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Tau Omega vs. Delta Chi, Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Kappa Alpha, and Kappa Sigma vs. Triangle.

The next games on the card are arranged to start at 6:45 o'clock Monday night with the Alpha Sigma Phi meeting the Alpha Tau Omegas, Delta Chi vs. Alpha Gamma Rho, Triangle vs. Kappa Alpha, and Sigma Beta Xi vs. Phi Delta Theta. The tournament will continue through February and March with approximately 122 games to be played.

Teams representing every fraternity on the campus are entered and have been divided into two divisions, according to their records made last year. Teams composing the upper division are Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Delta Tau Delta, Delta Chi, Sigma Chi, Phi Sigma, Kappa and Alpha Gamma Rho. Those composing the lower division are Triangle, Pi Kappa Alpha, Kappa Alpha, Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Beta Xi, Phi Kappa Tau, Sigma Nu and Alpha Gamma Epsilon.

The winners of these divisions will play for the championship of the Greeks.

Another division will be made up of the Park Athletic Club, First Methodist, Maxwell Presbyterian, Calvary Baptist, Catholic, and Central Christian church teams and the Mens Dormitory outfit.

The winner of this league will battle the winning fraternity team for the championship of the University. Cups will be presented to the winner of each division, to the winner of the two fraternity divisions, and another to the University champion.

According to the early season dope the Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sig and Maxwell Presbyterian church teams look best in their respective divisions.

BOXING AND WRESTLING

The Alpha Tau Omega swept all opposition before it in winning both team cups offered in the boxing and wrestling tournaments which was completed last week. Three first places in the final bouts of both sports held Saturday were enough to clinch the championship for the A. T. O.'s. Pete Drury, John Drury and McLemore won, both boxing and wrestling titles in their respective classes.

Wrestling Champs

Under 135—Gaines won from Pidgeon with a fall in 5:37.

135-145—Varga won from Shropshire 1:50 minutes.

145-155—Craft held a time advantage of 4:28 over Waller Jones.

155-165—McLemore displaced a champion when he gained a time advantage over Terrill.

165-175—Morgan won over Chapman with a slight time advantage after two overtime periods.

175-185—John Drury pinned Kistner in 5:8 minutes.

Unlimited—Pete Drury was awarded the decision over Davis after three rounds.

SURVEY SHOWS THAT BUSINESS NEEDS SCHOLARS

The results of a recent survey by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company of the 4,000 college graduates in their employ, show conclusively that scholastic standing bears a definite relation to success in business. The survey was undertaken to establish a criterion by which men could be chosen for employment with the certainty that they would become successful executives.

Of the 4,000 cases examined, at the end of a 30-year period the upper one-third were well above the average in earning power and the upper one-tenth were 150 per cent above the average. The lower one-third were but 80 per cent as successful, judging from earning power, as the average.

TECH STILL LEADS IN CONFERENCE BASKETBALL

(By Totsy Rose)

With less than three weeks from the annual tournament by which the conference championship is decided, Georgia Tech stands undisputedly at the top of the Southern Conference basketball standing with nine victories in as many starts.

The Rambling Wreck bowled over two conference opponents during the week, first, Auburn in a rather easy fashion, 41 to 24, then Alabama's Crimson Tide was smothered by the impressive score of 37 to 21.

Kentucky fighting Wildcats stopped the triumphant march of Washington and Lee, nosing out the Generals in a hectic battle that was anybody's game until the final whistle.

Tulane Loses

Tulane, a pre-tournament favorite, was humiliated by the lowly Auburn quintet. This was a distinct surprise as Auburn has been the door mat of the conference this season. Not all of the possible selections for finalists in the tournament met reverses during the week. Georgia and North Carolina continued to show greatly improved form.

Duke, baby member of the conference, must be given consideration as a contender for the championship, although Georgia nosed them out during the week in a great battle, 24 to 22. Duke, however, has shown great improvement and may be the dark horse in the tournament.

Ole Miss Falls

The University of Mississippi had a disastrous week, dropping four games, two to Alabama and a pair to their old rival, Mississippi A. and M. The rest of the pack continued to rock along in about the same fashion as previously this season. Florida and Tennessee were the only conference teams idle during the week.

The standing of the Southern Conference teams follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Georgia Tech	9	0	1.000
Washington and Lee	5	1	.833

North Carolina	9	0	.778
Tulane	7	2	.789

DR. L. R. AKERS LEADS PAINTSVILLE SERVICES

Dr. L. R. Akers recently held a revival given under the auspices of the young people's societies of three churches at Paintsville, Ky. Although the time was quite limited as to tenure and length of evening service from the opening service on Sunday morning to closing service the following Sunday night, with one exception, every service was marked by seekers being definitely blessed. Forty of the finest young people of the town came to the altar. The pastor of the church spoke in highest terms of the work done and expressed encouragement concerning the young people's work for the future.

Dr. Akers spoke twice at Mayo College, twice in the High school, and also addressed the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. There are many prospective students for Asbury as a result of the meeting.

Knute Rockne has expressed his disapproval of coeducation. According to his theory, girls waste an athlete's time.

TRUSTEES FAVOR NEW U. K. BUREAU

Publicity Organization Will Provide Information Service Concerning University; Elmer G. Sulzer Will Be Director.

The University has established a publicity bureau vested with the responsibility of distributing proper publicity concerning the activities of the institution as well as providing an accurate information service for all those desiring facts about the school, according to an announcement by President McVey. The organization was authorized at a recent meeting of the board of trustees. Elmer G. Sulzer was appointed director and Miss Helen King as assistant.

Headquarters for the bureau have been provided temporarily in the basement of the Administration building recently vacated by the cafeteria. Permanent quarters will be assigned later.

The functions of the organization will be carried out by means of the newspapers, motion pictures, radios, and information service. Newspaper publicity will consist of regular distribution of articles to all Kentucky papers, as well as a more limited national distribution. Achievements of note at the University will be sent to scientific and specialized periodicals. The picture service comprises a regular mat distribution to both state and national papers.

Motion pictures pertaining to the University will be distributed by the bureau to the various theaters of Kentucky. Ultimate plans include the purchasing of a motion picture camera to insure accurate covering of more important events, such as May Day.

Sailor Gets This Tobacco in Far Port

Buenos Aires, Argentine,
Jan. 4, 1928

Larus & Bro. Co.,
Piedmont, Va., U. S. A.
Gentlemen:

I'm a seafarer, and as such of course travel quite a lot. Right now I am in the Argentine, and am glad to say that I can here purchase your beloved Edgeworth Tobacco, of which I'm so very fond.

It is indeed a pity that one can't find this good smoke in every place of the seven seas. While recently in Germany, my home-country, I tried in vain to come upon one of these little blue tins. I'm not saying too much in mentioning that I would outwalk that famous mile, hunting up dear Edgeworth. I dare say there is no other tobacco like it, and am convinced that Edgeworth cannot be improved.

Let me know when you contemplate ceasing to make Edgeworth so that I may lay in a goodly store to last till I'm seventy.

May Edgeworth never change!

I'll always remain
Sincerely yours,
Willie Schmiekies

The directors of the bureau are well fitted for the positions which they hold both of them having had previous experience in journalism. Mr. Sulzer, director of the University 80-piece band, was graduated in 1925 from DePaul University, with a B. A. degree in journalism. He is a member of Delta Upsilon, Phi Mu Alpha, and Sigma Delta Chi fraternities. He has had practical newspaper work, including reportorial writing for an Indianapolis paper.

Miss King was graduated from the University in 1925, with a B. A. degree in Journalism. While in school she was a member of the publicity staff of the University, The Kernel and Kentucky staffs, as well as a member of Theta Sigma Phi. Her practical experience includes two years on the advertising staff of The Lexington Herald, a regular Sunday feature for that newspaper, "Helen Goes A-Shopping," and service as state editor of The Herald. Miss King also served as advertising manager of the Wolf Wile Company for one year.

Officials of the bureau wish to stress the fact that any department or organization of the University having information which they want broadcast over the state are invited to make use of the bureau for this purpose.

himself into the limelight as the producer, Kenneth Pierce, with admirable ability, and his sweetheart, Lee Corn, the eccentric but beautiful leading lady, is played by Mrs. W. E. Gallaway, who adds another mark to her long score of successes in past Guignol productions.

Andrew Hoover must be mentioned as giving admirable execution of the role of the half-crazed electrician, Bill Sandford, who adds a bit of mystery to the atmosphere. Margaret Lewis also stars in her role of Margaret Laurel for whom the beauty loving boy forms a strange attachment.

Other roles of equal difficulty were taken by Garnett Shouse, Verla Law, Katherine Davis, Thomas Lyons, William Durbeck, and Jeanette Kimberlin. Stage hands who set up the stage set at the beginning of the third act were Irmen Fort, Allan Charbonneau, C. L. Crutcher, Jane McCaw, and George Wafer. Roger Laufer was the burly detective who investigated the killing in the last scene. He played his part well.

V. P. I. and Oregon State were the only college football teams to win two games by placement kicks during the past season.

Latest Advertising Stunt Has Hundreds of Students Guessing

CINCINNATI, Ohio — The mystery of the musical airplane that puzzled hundreds of students when it circled over the university district recently, was explained by Thomas H. Bonzer, Engr-4, technical expert of the Ohio State Aeronautical Society.

"The operation of this latest advertising stunt is really very simple," Bonzer said. "The airplane, a tri-motored Fokker monoplane, is equipped with a radio and amplified loud speaking device, through which the announcer speaks or music is played."

"Inside the cabin of the airplane there is a phonograph with a microphone attachment similar to the ones used by music stores to get volume when playing records for street advertising. The difference between this type and that used in the airplane lies in the great difference in volume obtained."

"The 'Voice of the Sky,' as the plane is known, uses a fan generator to obtain sufficient voltage to operate the powerful producer. The actual amplifying device is inside the plane proper, but of course the speakers are located upon the bottom of the fuselage."

"The ship's motors do not have silencers, but are merely toned down by flying slowly. You will remember that its purr was noticeable, but did not interfere with the music or speaking. This was due to the great volume and not to silenced motors."

The "Voice of the Sky" is operated by a New York corporation for advertising purposes, but it is the first time that such a plane has ever flown over Columbus.

E. J. KINNEY WRITES SERIES OF TOBACCO ARTICLES

A series of tobacco articles concerning the cultivation of burley tobacco, are being written for the Lexington Leader by E. J. Kinney, manager of the University experiment station.

These articles have also been printed in pamphlet form and are available to those interested in this variety of tobacco. According to Mr. Kinney the information should be of particular value to farmers in the southern and western part of the state.

STUDENT SPANISH CLUB TO HOLD MEETING TODAY

The regular fortnightly meeting of Ateneo Castellano, student Spanish club, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the recreation room of Patterson hall. After the business meeting, at which time the election of officers for the second semester will be held, a delightful program will be presented. Refreshments for the afternoon are in charge of Mrs. George Smith, faculty advisor of the club, and Miss Eleanor Smith, program chairman.

A large increase in the membership of the organization is expected at this meeting, as those who have completed the first semester of Spanish are now eligible to join the club. All who are interested are cordially invited to attend the meeting this afternoon.

Soldiers Change To Tea Drinkers

WASHINGTON — Soldiers in the United States army drink 51,000,000 cups of tea each year. Something like 391 cups trickle down the throats of every officer and enlisted man annually, figuring the present peacetime strength at 133,033.

To provide this army of tea drinkers with the fragrant beverage required the purchase of 137,151 pounds of tea in the fiscal year ended June 30.

This is an average of a little more than a pound apiece for every soldier.

"Tea as the drink of fighting men," says the bulletin, "has the sanction of a good part of the rest of the world. Tea supplanted rum as the ration issued to English soldiers before they went over the top in the World War. Its invigorating and refreshing qualities braced them for the zero hour. Chinese Students Take Up American Habits

WISCONSIN, Ohio—Ohio State University is famed in China for its department of chemistry, according to Benjamin Wu, Chinese graduate student in organic chemistry.

"Ohio State is probably one of the best known of the American universities," said Wu in an interview recently. "Its department of chemistry is very highly regarded in China and many Chinese students planning to enter the field of chemistry try to come to this university."

Johns Hopkins and Western Reserve are noted for medicine, while Yale and Harvard have the preference for arts. Columbia is favored by those Chinese students who wish to follow the teaching profession.

"There is really but little difference between the American universities and those of my country," stated Wu, who studied in both institutions. "While the Chinese colleges do not have fraternities, class fights, and other customs that characterize the American schools, they do have many of the same ideals as they have copied them bodily from America."

"The Chinese college students dress similarly to their American contemporaries and are very quick to imitate any new fad that may develop. The girls of China are very particular about the dress of the men. Indeed I have seen college girls refuse to dance with a man unless he was dressed American style."

At Chinese athletic contests it was formerly the custom for the audience to remain silent and cheer only after the game was over. Now, however, the American style of yelling during the game is gaining many supporters, although the Chinese do not have cheer leaders as yet. Hand-clapping has always been one of the favorite methods of rooting.

SETH THOMAS CLOCK IS FEATURE OF MEMORIAL

One of the most attractive features of the new Memorial building, which is nearing completion, is the large four-faced clock in the tower. This Seth Thomas clock, which was recently purchased by the University, is electrically operated, and will be synchronized with the clock and bell system of the campus, so that all official time pieces will be in harmony at all times.

It is hoped by officials of the University, according to M. J. Crutcher, superintendent of buildings and grounds, that at some time in the future a set of carillon chimes will be installed, which will add greatly to the color of the campus.
